SUMMARY

I am an American/Luxembourgish educator passionate about project-based learning and using technology to influence learning processes. I regularly incorporate projects to help students bridge the knowledge gap by applying what they have learned in class into practical learning experiences. Along with my teaching experience, I bring an international mindset after 10+ years studying and working abroad in India, Germany, Jordan, America, Canada, and Spain. Currently pursuing a US teaching license with a focus in ESL, Business and ICT.
